Replacement Hot Water Solutions For Discontinued Product Ranges

There are an extensive number of thermal stores and Elson tanks that have been installed throughout the UK, some in excess of 20 years old.

Many manufacturers have since changed or discontinued their original product ranges, reverting to standard products as an alternative with completely different connection layouts, operation and footprint.

McDonald Water Storage continue to produce hot water storage tanks to our customers specification, whether it is an Elson tank or thermal stores, such as Gledhill PulsaCoil and Albion Mainsflow.

Having a direct replacement enables you to minimise disruption, reduce the installation times and associated costs.

Keep reading to find out which of our models is best suited to your requirements.
